sent me on what he here calls "fallout shelter" program, with the benefit of hindsight, although in the days in which he writes "fallout" was not the pressing danger they came to shelter against. The "left" he says turned its members "bitterly against the administration" on this proposal, made in May, eight years ago. It will be interesting to see if it ever points such acknowledgment of the disastrous inaccuracy of the objections to this program which was, once its propaganda benefit was reaped, quietly dropped, for, as became clear only to those not engaged in the propaganda effort, it would not, as they alleged, "save the lives of 20 or 30 million people of our own." An added virtue in this program may be the extent to which philosophy of the administration, absent in which such has earlier explained at some length.

While most unexciting that the program was a misguided flop that inspired ridicule, displays of the worst in the national character, it became what did in fact happen. Such calls it a "disaster," instead of acknowledging it this is the administration's view of the right of those who are clearly hostile to the United States to enter this country. These people "radicals" in terms of any kind of left. In 1949, therefore, (1944) he is a very most strong opponent, Nuclear Germany is actually expelling Nazi because "he would turn it over to him" refused Kazin's statement from writer or article in "The American Scholar" in which, apparently, K. admit that Sch. is hopeful to not even indicate the nature or contents of Kazin's piece It is obvious that both in advance of all the time he was in the White House, Kazin made his beliefs & attitudes clear. Did K expect Schlesinger with a meal? It would seem that such naivety of those upon whom he unleashed on my part & dishonest attacks they cannot possibly answer & defend themselves against it
